AFRONOMICSLAW.ORG PRIVACY POLICY

This privacy notice reflects data protection law under the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which came into force on May 25, 2018.

AfronomicsLaw.org is committed to the protection of the privacy of the users of its website under the GDPR. We adhere to the highest standards of ethical practices in all our operations. We do not sell, barter, give away, rent, or permit anyone outside the AfronomicsLaw.org Editorial Team to use or access your personal information.

Our legal basis for processing personal data is ‘legitimate interest’ under Article 6.1 of the GDPR. We only use personal information where it is in the legitimate interest of pursuing the activities of AfronomicsLaw.org as a capacity building and research organization and to help us personalize and continually improve your experience on our website.

By visiting the AfronomicsLaw.org website, you are accepting these conditions. The AfronomicsLaw.org Editorial Team shall not be liable under any circumstances for damages resulting from the use of information collected by visitors to its website.

If you have any questions regarding the use of your personal data or if you believe AfronomicsLaw.org has erroneous or incomplete information about you, please send an e-mail to Afronomicslaw@gmail.com
